EVENT DESCRIPTION

On February 4th 2019 at 8.45 pm a meeting was held with the citizens of the San Bellino district (a district of the Municipality of Padua).

The meeting was advertised via the "noicircolosanbellino" website and news on the ARPAV website; it was open to citizens (general public).

Francesco Rech (ARPAV Technicians) reported on the state of knowledge on the issue of climate change. In particular, the meteo-climatic data collected and processed by ARPAV were illustrated, which clearly highlight the variations in temperature with increases of more than 0.5 ° C per decade in the last 30 years and the increase in the variability of annual rainfall.

With information on the retreat of the Venetian ice, on the increase in the level of the Adriatic sea and the number of extreme storms, we have tried to provide an overall picture of the problems deriving from climate warming which are also evident on a regional scale.

The contents of the IPCC periodic reports were also illustrated. IPCC identify human activities of greenhouse gas emissions as a certain cause of global warming.

The activities of ARPAV within the RESPONSe Project and the aims of the project were illustrated.

The purpose of the meeting was to raise awareness among citizens on the issue of climate change by highlighting impacts, perspectives and the role of adaptation and mitigation action.

The meeting was attended by 14 citizens (14 are the participants who have agreed to sign the attendance form) and 2 ARPAV technicians (Zagolin and Da Rugna).

The meeting on climate change was followed the following week by a further meeting promoted by ARPAV on the dynamics of air quality in the particular context of the Po Valley

Participants to the initiative lay into the category of general public.
