2. CULTURAL HERITAGE SITES

- The Clock Museum in Pesariis witness the ancient tradition of horology, which developed in the village of Pesariis since the 17<sup>o</sup> Century. The Museum is completed by an open-air tour to visit the monumental clocks, situated along the street of the typical ancient village of Pesariis.
- Museum “The Carnia Region during the 1st World War”: the museum’s collection of Italian-Austrian war finds show the dramatic events that saw the Carnia region facing the First World War. Visitors can walk up to the front-lines, on the border between Italy and Austria, to visit the open-air museum’s trenches.

3. NATURAL PATRIMONY SITES

- Mount Coglians Fossil Reef: In the Devonian period (from 420 to 360 million years ago), a shallow and warm sea, rich in coral reefs, stretched where today we see the Carnic Alps. The Coglians Massif represents the core of the cliff (the biggest fossil reef in Europe). It is a geosite of international geological interest. There are many hiking paths and routes of geological and naturalistic interest, for hikers and expert mountaineers as well.
- Creta di Aip (Aip Peak): this mountain witnesses of the geological events that forged the last period of Palaeozoic Era, the Permian period (300-250 million years ago). This site has a regional geological interest. Many paths of different difficulty have been developed in the entire area.
